LESSON IN GOOD CITIZENSHIP

What's the foundation of your business?

If Maysville was not here you would not be here. If Maysville didn't, in your opinion, offer prospects for the future, you would pick up and move.

Are you helping to develop the prospects of your city?

The good citizen helps to develop the city's markets by developing the agricultural resources of the surrounding country. As the country is settled, the city's market grows, as the market grows, new industries are attracted and the established expand. New industries bring additional population. New population creates new business. Around we go in a circle of prosperity. Of course, one good citizen single-handed, can't do much to make his city grow, but 300 working together through an efficient organization, can do a great deal.

Nearly 300 good citizens, through the Chamber of Commerce of Maysville, are engaged in a good work. Have you been one of them? If you have not, you haven't been true to yourself. You will be willing to take the credit for what the Chamber of Commerce will be able to do, won't you?

Isn't the Chamber of Commerce entitled to your help?

BOLSHEVIKI REIGN

Breaking As Soldiers Cease Support—Maximalist Party Slowly But Inevitably Riding To A Fall.

Copenhagen, December 18.—Alexander Kerensky, former premier, has appeared near Petrograd at the head of several thousand troops, according to a despatch via Haparanda, printed today by the Berlingska Tidningen.

The despatch asserted the Bolsheviks had sent out armed forces to meet this newest counter-revolution against them. Whether there has been any actual fighting between the two sides was not stated.

Stockholm, December 18.—The Maximalist party is slowly but inevitably riding to a fall.

Reliable information from travelers reaching here today, as well as anti-Bolshevik newspapers smuggled via Haparanda, indicate even the Petrograd garrison no longer supports the Lenin-Trotsky ring.

Twenty-six of Russia's provinces and territories formally have refused recognition of the Bolshevik "government." Every Bolshevik claim from Petrograd must be heavily discounted.

Terrorism reigns in Petrograd. The cleverest intrigues of the old Russian regime are aiding the extremists in playing on the minds of the ignorant masses of the soldiers by fairy tales that there will be an immediate revolution in Germany.

The date set for opening of the Constituent Assembly was the occasion for a monster demonstration in Petrograd in favor of this meeting. Not only was the meeting suppressed, but the Bolsheviks have not permitted any news of it to be sent out.

The demonstrators expressed strong condemnation of the Bolshevik efforts to wreck the assembly.

Latest returns indicate 162 revolutionary Socialists, 96 Maximalists and 13 Cadets as the makeup of the Constituent Assembly, according to a Petrograd despatch today.

That the Maximalists feel they can no longer rely on the Petrograd garrison—once their greatest source of power—is indicated in notice that Lithuanian troops have been ordered to supersede them and now are policing the city.

Petrograd, December 18.—The Cossacks reoccupied Rostoff today. Reports received here said they disarmed the Red Guards of the Bolsheviks.

Rostoff-on-the-Don is one of the most important commercial cities of southeastern Russia. It is in the territory of the Don Cossacks, first of the Cossacks tribes to declare their revolt against the Bolsheviks. Last week the Bolsheviks claimed to hold the city "safe."

DRY NATION BILL

Adopted By Senate By a Vote of 47 to 8—West States Now Target.

California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming are the wet states, now the target for final prohibition.

Thirteen of these can prevent the prohibition amendment from making the United States a dry nation.

Washington, December 18.—The Senate concurred today in House amendments to the nation-wide prohibition resolution.

A rising vote was taken. Forty-seven Senators voted for the House amendments and eight against them.

The Senate's action transfers the fight to the State Legislatures. Three-fourths of the state bodies must ratify the dry amendments to make it a part of the constitution.

One year after such approval, "the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes," will be prohibited.

The drys already have laid plans for fights in Ohio, Missouri, Massachusetts and Kentucky, now wet states. Much territory in all of them, it was pointed out, has long been forbidden ground for liquor. About 85 per cent of Massachusetts is dry under option.

Representative Webb, who engineered the amendment through its legislative pitfalls to success, announced he and other leaders will stump wet states during summer's vacations.

Senator Borah, Idaho, made a brief but vigorous fight against the provision requiring ratification of the dry amendment within seven years by three-fourths of the states.

Borah said Congress had no right to limit the time within which constitutional amendments shall be ratified.

SUGAR ALLOWANCE IN 1918

8 Pounds a Month for Each Person During Coming Year.

Food Administrator Hoover will issue a supplemental food card in a few days to the 12,000,000 food conservation pledge signers announcing that the food sugar rationing plan for the United States provides for three pounds of sugar a month to each person during the coming year.

This yearly ration of 36 pounds is about one-half the rate of sugar consumption in the country at this time. Before the war the average American consumed 90 pounds of sugar a year. If the public responds to the new appeal the use of sugar in the United States will be cut from 9,360,000,000 pounds to 3,840,000,000.—The Interstate Grocer.

AWIDING GERMANY RIVALRY
 Washington, December 10.—The Republican Publicity Association, thru its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement at its Washington Headquarters:

“We were content to abide the rivalries of manufacture, science and commerce that were involved for us in her success,” said the President, speaking of Germany. In his address to Congress.

“Content to abide,” Mrs. President? Why you insisted on encouraging it with a tariff law so low there's nothing to twist it and free trade. German scissors cut our Red Cross bandages, and the German workmen who made the scissors got one-third the American wage. German razors cut the throat of the American industry with a work-scale in the German industry of from $2.50 to $7.00 a week. From 1897 to 1913, under protection, the American production of pocketknives increased to $4,000,000 annually. During that period German interests came over to our country and established three factories representing an investment of $500,000 and adding 650 men to the payroll of American labor. That showed their appreciation of protection. But in 1914 our pocket-knife industry went bing! because Democratic duty rates had turned our market back to the Hun exactly as did the Wilson-Gorman law of 1893-97.

“There was a German mark on this and a German brand on that and a German label on the other, until a man didn't know whether he was in Buffalo or Bavaria. If he could raise enough loose change to buy his wife and kids some stockings, they came back with a package from Memmiz. If he ate at home at all, he polished a German plate with the aid of a German fork. Or if he was down to the soup-kitchen and wanted to see how long before it came around he found himself stared at through the jewel-

TALK OF THE TOWN
By Theo. R. Marsters.

The Editor Public Ledger:
I enclose an article relating to an old friend of mine and a family who left Maysville in the early "fifties." I thought, perhaps it, or some extracts from it, would be interesting (if published in the Public Ledger) to some of the old friends, and to the relatives in Maysville among whom is a brother's widow, Mrs. James A. Lee, Mrs. Jane Lee's family, the Woods, Wadsworths, Cartmells, etc.

Truly yours,
J. E. BLAINE.

Way down on what was once "the prairie" to us older folk, but is now one of the most populous and busy sections of the city, housing as its crowning glory that proud old of our modern and sophisticated institutions the Proctor Recreation Center, stands the Lee school.

Just one of our many handsome substantial school buildings where the young idea is taught how to do a lot of things besides shoot.

And it is safe to say that of the thousands of children who enjoy his educational benefits and the hundreds of parents who regard it as their chief reward for being citizens of Peoria and almost a due recompense for the somewhat irksome honor of paying annual taxes into the city revenue, few if any are aware from whom the school got its name.

I have an idea indeed, that if they were asked about it nine-tenths of the population would state that in their opinion the Lee school was named for General Robert E. Lee, the dashing confederate general.

Even a large majority of those who know that the school was named in honor of the Hon. John Lee, of Peoria, have only the haziest idea as to who he was or what manner of a man he chanced to be or why and how he won and been awarded the privilege of having his name perpetuated in such a way.

Yet Jack Lee, as he was known to all of his contemporaries, was long a central and dominant figure in our professional, political and business life. And for the greater part of the last century the family now almost unknown here, was prominent, widely known and generally and generously respected.

Perhaps the fact that he was so invariably called Jack that if I were to tell this little history of him under the name of John few of even his intimate friends would know it, tells better than words do what manner of a man he was and what gave him the right to be so called.

It is only those it loves that life-world gives its nickname to.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Catarrh being generally induced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. C. HENRY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by all druggists.

And nothing could speak more eloquently of the simple, sincere, unaffected character of the hero of this sketch than the statement that the name clung to him not only long after he reached manhood but until the very day of his death.

It was as Jack Lee that he was admitted to the bar, became a dominant and militant figure in our courts; held many positions of honor and prominence in the community and represented our district with brilliant ability in the legislature.

And when death claimed him long before he had reached the allotted span of human life it was Jack Lee, the lovable, loyal, loving friend, the simple, modest, singularly gentle and chivalrous man, rather than the public personage that he was universally mourned and wept.

In the public library building stands on a lofty pedestal a marble portrait bust of Jack Lee. Who did it I don't know, but I fancy it must have been our sculptor, Fritz Triebel. Often as I pass hastily in and out of the library I find myself involuntarily pausing before it. Not that it is a particularly imposing creation or that it possesses any arresting quality of beauty or distinction. Portraits in marble seldom do.

But it is a rather good likeness, as such things go, giving a better idea than most of those busts of how the subject really looked. Indeed the artist has limned quite startlingly the patrician delicacy of the features, the fine modeling of the brow and head has even caught a little of the exalted look which to my youthful imagination at least, always gave Jack Lee the appearance of a Sir Galahead.

Whether to others he wore this look of poetic detachment or not I cannot say. But he was certainly romantically handsome with regular features, fine dark eyes and a skin as fair and fine as a girl's. There are doubtless official documents and authentic and guaranteed documents in abundance which can give Mr. Lee's life and career in detail.

But for detail there is little room in these necessarily limited and somewhat hurried sketches of our important men. To give Peorians a glimpse of the personality and perhaps a peep into the heart of a man who did so much to mould the life of his period is the most I can hope for and would be to me a most congenial and agreeable task.

The Lees came from Kentucky and both the father and mother of Jack Lee were of fine old southern stock.

The father was a lawyer and for many years he was a magistrate in this city.

In appearance, manner and his old-fashioned, manly, square and straight forward methods of administering justice he was a typical "squire" of the old school. Respected not only by the community whose laws he enforced but also by the lawbreakers whose fate he decided, he held court for many years in the old City Hall building which then shared with the now vanished central market house, the site at present occupied by our stately and sizeable municipal building.

But he, too, died before his allotted time and his death left Jack, as the oldest son, the head of the family.

I never knew the older Mr. Lee but I remember Mrs. Lee very well indeed. Even in her old age she was a strikingly handsome woman with a fine hold profile, fiery dark eyes, a nimble wit and a terse, poignant, almost epigrammatic way of putting things which made her pungent flow of talk inexpressibly fascinating to me.

Altho undeniably indebted to his father for his legal mind and strong sense of justice I fancy Jack Lee must have inherited most of his wit and charm of personality as he undoubtedly did his good looks, from his mother. She was immensely proud of him and he lavished upon her an affection and solicitous care, which any mother might have envied her. That his devotion to his mother and his solicitude for his younger brothers and only sister were the mainsprings of his life can be no doubt.

Jack Lee never married.

Whether there ever was a love affair in his life I do not know. Probably in his boyhood he may have indulged in a discreet flirtation with a pretty girl no wiser than he. But at the time I knew him women seemed to have no place in his life whatever.

He was a man's man, loved and admired and eagerly sought by men of all ages.

But his private life was bound up in his mother's home and the

A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Maysville Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and kidney disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed—Read this Maysville woman's convincing statement:

Miss Dora Edgington, Wood St., Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and from the results received, I have every reason to recommend them. At times, my kidneys have become weak and have been irregular in action. My back has ached, too, and has been very weak and lame across my kidneys. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for this trouble, they have never failed to relieve the complaint in a short time. I gladly advise anyone to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Chaslor's Drug Store, if troubled in that way."

Miss Edgington is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Miss Edgington had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c all stores. family lived for half a century or more, was the only home he ever knew. That if he had been free to pursue only his own ambitions and live a self centered existence Jack Lee might have become a national character there can be little doubt.

Certainly he could have had any office in the gift of his fellow citizens. And that in the face of the fact that he adhered to the political faith of his fathers and was a staunch and loyal democrat at a time when it took courage and meant the renunciation of most public honors to be known as a member of the democratic party. He could have gone to congress any time he had spoken the word. But Jack Lee did not care to go to Washington. His widowed mother needed him—the younger members of the family had claims upon him which he was too loyal to ignore.

He was content to go to the legislature where he attained a popularity as extraordinary as that he enjoyed at home.

With his high-bred good looks, his patrician dignified bearing, he must have been a figure which challenged instant attention among that horde of simple farmer folk which then as now made up the bulk of our legislative body.

And thru all the stirring times that followed the war he remained a splendid example of the fast vanishing type of old-time gentleman politician, sincere, modest, unassuming, and as incorruptible as the Galahead with whom I always associated him.

He died as he had lived and it is a pleasant task indeed to be able to chronicle that for once a community was able to appreciate a character wholly without pretense or pose, a life lived simply and honestly without hypocrisy or self-seeking and a career crowned by brilliant success and yet marred by not one single deed that was unworthy or mean.

That in spite of all we see around us it is still possible to succeed in life while doing unto others as you would be done by is the lesson to be learned from the career of Jack Lee.

And it is with the hope that not only the pupils of the school which bears his name but all the young people of our city may know what a fine and splendid heritage the Lee school has been given in that name, that I have written this little human story this morning.

TOUGH ON PAUL GARY—CAN'T TAKE GLASS EYE BACK TO GERMANY

Louisville, Ky., December 16—Paul Gary, of Anderson, Ind., is all American, with the exception of a glass eye. The substitute optic is stolen.

Gary tried to enlist in the United States Marine Corps at the recruiting station here, but was rejected when his infirmity was discovered by Sergeant G. C. Wright.

"Didn't you know that loss of an eye would prevent you enlisting?" asked the Sergeant.

"I thought it might," explained Gary, "but this glass blinker is only part of it."

RED CROSS

Drive Begins at Maysville—Mass Meetings To Be Held Wednesday and Thursday Nights.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Maysville Red Cross Chapter has already enrolled more than twenty-five per cent of the population of the district, who is launching a campaign this week, whose slogan is "Fifty per cent of the population enrolled by Saturday night. Every member of every family a member."

Chairman S. M. Blatterman and his efficient assistants and workers are making a house to house canvass for new members. Flattering reports are coming in from each division. The people are realizing more than ever, that one of the greatest services they can render in the present conflict is to liberally support the Red Cross whose main object is to administer first aid to the American soldiers and their allies—both in encampment and on the battle fields of Europe.

On last Sunday the pastors of each of the churches devoted the morning services to the movement, — urging their members to respond to the call. Today the teachers in the public school are using one period to inform the pupils of the magnitude of the movement and to impress on them the necessity of becoming active members.

On Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, in the school, auditorium, Hon. T. D. Slattery will deliver an address to a mass meeting of citizens. On Thursday evening at the same place, Rev. Homer Carpenter, Chancellor of Transylvania University, will speak. It is predicted that the commodious hall will be filled. Every citizen is urged to be present at each of these meetings.

Let every man, woman and child do his duty, — sending his dollar on its errand of mercy to the suffering, wounded men in those hell-blasted districts of northern France where on the writhing, naked bodies of young and old alike German Kultur is inflicting the most foul and diabolical tortures ever known in the history of the universe.

PROF. HUMPHREY APPEALS FOR HELP—LET US CONTINUE TO MIX PATRIOTISM AND GENEROSITY

I know at first hand, this moment at least, twenty most deserving colored families whose need for food, fuel, and clothing is at the crushing point. Most of these families have as their heads poor, hard working, struggling women without male help. The number of children in these families ranges from one to four. All who are able are working.

It would fulfill these families' dearest hope, be their greatest Christmas gift and call forth their noblest appreciation, if on next Monday, Christmas eve—through the generosity of the good white people — either in money or groceries—or both — these colored families would be given at least a limited amount of food, fuel and clothing.

Last year many noble hearted white people fasted and made other sacrifices in order that not a colored child would go without a Christmas dinner. If in any way and in any degree you help relieve the suffering of these families I will assure you in advance that not a cent nor an article shall be misapplied nor a deserving home be overlooked. Sincerely,

W. H. HUMPHREY.
